
 Censorship alert: On Thursday, the @CBSDschools board policy committee will consider a new library policy. The proposal paves an expressway to censorship.  1/5

8:08 AM · May 19, 2022 · Twitter Web App

74 Retweets 21 Quote Tweets 90 Likes

Tweet your reply

Reply

ACLU of Pennsylvania  @aclupa · May 19

Replying to @aclupa

If passed, the policy will lead to the banning of age-appropriate books with serious artistic, literary, and educational value simply because a parent or school board member does not like a particular book. 2/5

 1

 9

 32

ACLU of Pennsylvania  @aclupa · May 19

Parents have latitude to limit what their own children read; they don't and shouldn't have that authority to decide what books other children have access to. Each family has the right to decide what's suitable for their children. 3/5

 1

 22

 79

ACLU of Pennsylvania  @aclupa · May 19

Application of this policy will almost certainly result in unconstitutional censorship. And such censorship will assuredly attract federal court lawsuits. 4/5

 2

 8

 41

ACLU of Pennsylvania  @aclupa · May 19

The @CBSDschools policy committee meets tonight at 6pm at the Educational Services Center, 16 Welden Drive, Doylestown.  5/5

ACLU of Pennsylvania ✓ @aclupa · Jun 14

Tonight, @CBSDSchools will vote on new rules that would allow censorship in school libraries. Central Bucks is the third-largest school district in Pennsylvania; this policy has huge implications for thousands of students. A 📖 1/

6 134 147

ACLU of Pennsylvania ✓ @aclupa · Jun 14

Censorship and other exclusionary policies in @CBSDSchools disempower parents and students. These policies give a small group of vocal parents control over what educational materials all Central Bucks students can and can't access. /2

2 16 64

ACLU of Pennsylvania ✓ @aclupa · Jun 14

Freedom is about having choices, not giving a few parents authority to decide what students should read. A few @CBSDSchools board members should not be imposing their political views on thousands of Central Bucks students by telling them what they can and can't read. /3

1 23 72

ACLU of Pennsylvania ✓ @aclupa · Jun 14

Censorship has no place in schools, which must be a marketplace of ideas for students to flourish and grow. Good schools don't tell students what to think and read; they let them explore and decide for themselves. /4

1 22 74

ACLU of Pennsylvania ✓ @aclupa · Jun 14

Pennsylvania has the second-highest number of book bans of any state in the nation. @CBSDSchools new policy could help PA become first in the nation in book bans. PA students deserve better. /5

1 34 71

ACLU of Pennsylvania ✓
@aclupa

These new rules amount to censorship, plain and simple. It's not just wrong, it's probably illegal. And once books start coming off of the shelves, @CBSDSchools, we'll see you in court. 6/6